

Leadership Development and Recruitment

Effective, energized leadership is the key to launching and sustaining transformations that move schools from “Needs Improvement,” or worse, to excellence. However, finding and keeping leaders is a tremendous challenge for many administrators and system leaders. The Education Transformation Group can help your school or system identify teachers and administrators, from diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds, with the required skills and proven track record to help improve outcomes for the students that need help. ETG can also help school and system administrators design and implement custom leadership development programs that improve teacher and leader retention and overall school performance.
